Good morning!

Hope you all had a great weekend – it's too hot, folks! Where's the cool, crisp fall weather? I'm beyond ready for it.

I have just a couple of announcements this week:

Student Activities Last Week: I am always so grateful for our employees who invest so much of their time in student activities. First, because students want them, but second, because we know how much they contribute to retention and success. Last week demonstrated this with several great student-focused events. Along with the Programs Fair and Phi Theta Kappa Awareness Week, the student organization, Politically Active, hosted OTC Constitution Day 2022: Behind the Bench. This featured a Zoom interview and Q&A with former Supreme Court clerks Michael Clemente and Sina Kian. If you missed out, you can check out the video on YouTube (the audio is shaky for about the first minute).

Time to Clean Out Those Closets!: Career Services is once again gearing up for Dress for Success, an event held for students needing professional attire for interviews. The details:

- Donations accepted October 5-10 in the new Career Services location, ICE 121 on the Springfield campus.
- Only clean, gently used attire meant for the workplace is accepted – no items with stains, holes, or odors, please.
- Priority needs are men's clothing and accessories, as well as plus-size clothing.
- Clean scrubs for our Health Sciences students, as well as work jeans and steel-toed boots, are welcome donations.
- Belts, purses, and shoes (3 pairs max) will be accepted.

As a reminder, all items are completely free for our students. The event will be held October 17-18. A signup sheet will be distributed shortly for those interested in volunteering for the event. If you have questions, please contact Tammy Casey (caseyt@otc.edu).

I'm looking forward to visits to Richwood Valley and the Republic Education Center this week – and of course, fall picnics!

Have a great week!
